1 Plaintiffs The Laryngeal Mask Company, Ltd. ("LMC") and LMA North America, 2 Inc. ("LMA NA," and collectively "Plaintiffs" or "LMA") hereby submit this Memorandum
3 of Points and Authorities in Support of their Motion to Disqualify Finnegan, Henderson, 4 Farabow, Garrett & Dunner, LLP ("Finnegan") from representing Ambu A/S and its 5 subsidiaries (collectively "Ambu") in connection with this lawsuit. This Motion is also 6 supported by the Declarations of Stephen Marzen, Wendy Ackerman, Ellen Peck, and 7 Frederick Berretta filed herewith, and the exhibits attached thereto.

8 I. INTRODUCTION

9 This motion involves the "the most egregious conflict of interest" that can exist 10 between a client and its attorneys – i.e., an attorney's "representation of clients whose 11 interests are directly adverse in the same litigation." People ex rel. v. Speedee Oil Change 12 Sys., Inc., 20 Cal.4th 1135, 1147, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 816, 824 (1999).

13 Just before Thanksgiving of 2006, Plaintiffs' representatives met with attorneys from 14 Finnegan about retaining the firm to represent Plaintiffs in the above-captioned lawsuit.
15 During a two-hour consultation about the case, confidential information and legal advice was 16 shared. At the end of the meeting, Plaintiffs' representatives told Finnegan's attorneys that 17 they would let them know as soon as they could whether LMA would proceed with the 18 litigation using Finnegan as patent trial counsel. After the holidays, in the beginning of 19 January 2007, LMA gave Finnegan the go-ahead to begin work on the lawsuit. Only then did 20 Finnegan inform LMA that a "non-waivable" conflict had arisen that prevented the firm from 21 representing LMA. Finnegan did not specify the nature of the conflict.

22 The nature of Finnegan's "conflict" is now clear and precludes Finnegan from 23 representing Ambu in this lawsuit. At some point after meeting with LMA's representatives, 24 Finnegan agreed to represent Ambu in the very same lawsuit about which Finnegan had 25 previously advised LMA. While the "conflict" is obviously "non-waivable," it is of 26 Finnegan's own making.

27 There is no justification or excuse for Finnegan taking on Ambu as a client in this 28 lawsuit after it had met and advised LMA regarding filing the very same suit. Incredibly,

1 Finnegan never even attempted to obtain LMA's consent, let alone notify LMA that it desired
 2 to represent its adversary. Instead, Finnegan just appeared on the other side of this lawsuit.
 3 Under the ethical rules of California, which apply to attorneys practicing before this Court, 4 such side-switching is not permitted and disqualifies the entire Finnegan firm from 5 representing Ambu in this lawsuit. Finnegan's belated attempt to erect an ethical screen is 6 irrelevant under the applicable California legal standards.

7 Ellen Peck, a former Judge of the State Bar Court and a co-author of The Rutter 8 Group's California Practice Guide to Professional Responsibility, has submitted a 9 Declaration supporting this Motion. Judge Peck's opinion confirms that the entire Finnegan 10 firm should be disqualified from representing or assisting Ambu in this litigation. E. Peck 11 Decl., ¶ 3.

12 II. STATEMENT OF PERTINENT FACTS

13 A. The Parties And Products At Issue In This Lawsuit

14 This lawsuit involves a medical device known as a "laryngeal mask airway." The 15 medical device is inserted into a patient's throat to maintain an airway while patients are 16 under general anesthesia. Dr. Archibald Brain invented the laryngeal mask airway and is the 17 named inventor on numerous patents in this field now assigned to Plaintiffs or their corporate 18 parent LMA International N.V. ("LMA").

19 LMA directly owns the shares of its two subsidiary companies who are the Plaintiffs 20 in this action, LMC (the patent owner) and LMA NA (the exclusive licensee in the United 21 States). LMA and its subsidiaries are the world's leading suppliers of laryngeal mask 22 airways. Ambu, headquartered in Denmark, makes and sells competing laryngeal mask 23 airways. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 1.

24 Two of the Dr. Brain laryngeal mask airway patents are being asserted by Plaintiffs 25 against Ambu in this lawsuit. LMC has already successfully asserted one of the Dr. Brain 26 European patents and a German utility model against Ambu in a German Court. This motion 27 to disqualify arises out of LMA's initial efforts to identify and retain U.S. patent trial counsel

28 ///

1 to assert its U.S. patents against Ambu in a United States district court. S. Marzen Decl., 2 ¶¶ 1-18; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶¶ 1-9.

3 LMA and its subsidiaries are represented in the United States on business law matters 4 by Stephen Marzen, a partner in the law firm of Shearman & Sterling LLP ("Shearman") and 5 a member of the board of directors of LMA. As a director of LMA, Mr. Marzen chairs the 6 Intellectual Property Committee (the "IPC"). The IPC is responsible for developing LMA's 7 intellectual property policies, supervising patent infringement litigation, and appointing 8 outside counsel. S. Marzen Decl., ¶¶ 1-2.

9 B. LMA Arranged To Meet Finnegan In November 2006 Regarding LMA's Patent
 10 Infringement Action Against Ambu

11 In October 2006, Mr. Marzen learned that the United States Patent and Trademark 12 Office would shortly allow one of Dr. Brain's patent applications to issue as a U. S. patent.
 13 Ex. A (S. Marzen Decl.).<sup>1</sup> The patent, entitled "Laryngeal Mask Airway Device," issued on 14 January 2, 2007 as United States Patent No. 7,156,100 (the "Brain '100 patent"). Ex. B (S.
 15 Marzen Decl.) The Brain '100 patent is one of the two patents in suit. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 3.

16 On October 31, 2006, Mr. Marzen met with the other directors of LMA at a quarterly 17 meeting of the board. The LMA board discussed actions against Ambu for patent 18 infringement and directed Mr. Marzen to investigate commencing an action against Ambu for 19 patent infringement in the United States. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 4.

20 After the board meeting, Mr. Marzen discussed LMA's potential U.S. litigation with 21 Wendy Ackerman, a counsel at Shearman who assists Mr. Marzen with the representation of 22 LMA and its subsidiaries. To investigate and, if necessary, prosecute that litigation, Mr.
 23 Marzen and Ms. Ackerman arranged interviews with two law firms, one of which was 24 Finnegan. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 5; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶¶ 1-3.

26
 27 <sup>1</sup> Unless otherwise noted all exhibits are attached to the Declaration of Stephen 28 Marzen filed herewith.

Specifically, on November 20, 2006, Ms. Ackerman called Charles Lipsey, a partner in Finnegan's Reston, Virginia office, to discuss the anticipated patent infringement action against Ambu. Ms. Ackerman told Mr. Lipsey that LMA was exploring the possibility of filing the case in a particular jurisdiction, and she asked him whether he thought he or someone else at Finnegan might be a good fit to serve as trial counsel in the case. Mr. Lipsey recommended she contact J. Michael Jakes, a partner in the Washington, D.C. office of Finnegan who had substantial patent trial experience in the medical device area and in one of the jurisdictions being considered to file suit. W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 4.

After speaking to Mr. Lipsey, Ms. Ackerman called Mr. Jakes to discuss the potential patent infringement action against Ambu and to determine whether he and Finnegan had any interest in representing LMA in the case. Mr. Jakes expressed interest and a meeting was set up for November 22 in Finnegan's Washington, D.C. office. W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 5.

Ms. Ackerman understood that Mr. Jakes intended to run a conflict check in anticipation of the meeting to ensure that Finnegan could represent LMA in a matter adverse to Ambu. In particular, Mr. Jakes asked Ms. Ackerman for the specific names of the potential plaintiffs and potential defendants in the anticipated patent infringement action so that his secretary could run a conflict check on the matter. Id.

C. During The Meeting With Finnegan, LMA Disclosed Privileged And Confidential Information About This Lawsuit And Obtained Legal Advice From Finnegan

On November 22, 2006, Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman went to the Finnegan offices in Washington, D.C. to meet with Mr. Jakes and another Finnegan lawyer, John Williamson. Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman met with the Finnegan lawyers for approximately two hours. At the meeting, Mr. Marzen led the discussion for LMA and explained that he was a director of LMA, that he and Ms. Ackerman were interviewing two firms as potential patent trial counsel to prosecute LMA's patent infringement claim, and that he would recommend one of the two firms to LMA. S. Marzen Decl., ¶¶ 6-7; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 6.

Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman understood from Mr. Jakes that Finnegan had conducted a conflicts check prior to the meeting and that he was not aware of any reason why

1 Finnegan could not represent LMA against Ambu. The Finnegan lawyers did not ask Mr.
 2 Marzen or Ms. Ackerman to refrain from disclosing LMA's confidences and secrets and they 3 did not limit their discussion in any way. One or both of the Finnegan lawyers took notes
 4 during the consultation. Both Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman understood that the discussion
 5 was a privileged and confidential communication between attorneys and a client. S. Marzen 6 Decl., ¶¶ 7, 10-11; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 7.

7 The discussion among the two LMA representatives and the two Finnegan lawyers 8 involved many important and strategic issues related to the litigation. Mr. Marzen gave the 9 Finnegan lawyers a detailed introduction to the dispute, the products at issue, and the patent 10 claims in order to understand how Finnegan recommended handling the litigation. Among 11 other things, Mr. Marzen

- 12 • described the background to LMA's dispute with Ambu,
- 13 • showed and discussed samples of both companies' laryngeal
- 14 masks in light of the allowed patent claims,
- 15 • reviewed the principal patent claim in the Notice of Allowance
- 16 and referred to certain prior art,
- 17 • discussed LMA's and Ambu's alternative claim constructions
- 18 in the German patent-infringement litigation and compared them to the
- 19 principal claim in the Notice of Allowance, and
- 20 • discussed LMA's objective if it brought suit.

21 S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 8; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 6.

22 The two Finnegan lawyers at the meeting then discussed how Finnegan would handle 23 the litigation against Ambu. Among other issues, Finnegan advised regarding:

- 24 • which LMA subsidiaries should sue as plaintiffs,
- 25 • which Ambu entities should be sued as defendants,
- 26 • where LMA's subsidiaries should sue Ambu,
- 27 • whether LMA should assert non-patent claims,
- 28 • what counterclaims might be brought by Ambu,

- what remedies LMA should consider seeking against Ambu,
- how much LMA might expect to recover,
- how much LMA should expect to spend in legal fees, and
- how long the litigation would likely take.

During the meeting, the Finnegan lawyers offered their suggestions and gave the LMA representatives legal advice with respect to the anticipated lawsuit. Finnegan also estimated a range of costs for the patent litigation against Ambu. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 9-10; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 6.

LMA disclosed many specific privileged and confidential matters, and Finnegan rendered related legal advice, in the course of the two-hour meeting. LMA's representatives can provide supplemental declarations in camera describing these matters in more detail should the Court so request.<sup>2</sup> S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 10; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 6.

D. After The Meeting, LMA Understood That Finnegan Was Available To Prosecute This Lawsuit And In Fact Selected Finnegan To Proceed With The Case

During the meeting, Mr. Jakes gave Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman a folder containing magazine excerpts attesting to Finnegan's capability to handle patent infringement litigation, a list of "Representative Cases" that featured several patent infringement litigations involving medical devices, and biographies of the Finnegan lawyers in the meeting. Ex. C (S. Marzen Decl.) S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 11.

At the close of the meeting, Mr. Marzen promised Mr. Jakes that he would report to LMA and promptly report back whether LMA would proceed with the litigation using <sup>2</sup> To protect client confidences in "side-switching" disqualification motions, courts generally authorize the former client, who is seeking disqualification of its former attorney, to submit privileged and confidential material to the court in camera to support its motion without waiver of the very privilege it seeks to protect. Gov't of India v. Cook Indus., Inc., 569 F.2d 737, 741 (2nd Cir. 1978) (Mansfield, J., concurring) ("I am confident that in such rather rare cases the court will devise appropriate means, including use of an in camera or other protective devices, to safeguard the interests of the former client."); Rogers v. Pittston Co., 800 F.Supp. 350, 355 (W.D. Va. 1992) ("because the moving party is not required to publicly reveal actual confidences, in camera submission of documents is a recognized way of establishing that the two matters are substantially related").

1 Finnegan as patent trial counsel. Mr. Marzen explained that it might take some time before 2 he called because of the upcoming holidays, but the time would not necessarily delay any 3 legal action because the Brain '100 patent had not yet issued. The LMA representatives 4 understood that Finnegan was available and willing to take the case against Ambu, and had 5 no reason to think otherwise. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 12; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 8.

6 In the weeks following the meeting, as promised, Mr. Marzen sought and obtained 7 LMA's approval to proceed against Ambu using Finnegan as its trial counsel. Some time 8 after January 11, 2007 Mr. Marzen called Mr. Jakes to let him know of LMA's approval to 9 proceed with Finnegan as trial counsel and left a voice-mail message to that effect. S.
10 Marzen Decl., ¶¶ 13-15.

11 From the November 22, 2006 meeting until the day that Mr. Marzen contacted Mr.
12 Jakes, neither Mr. Marzen nor Ms. Ackerman had received any communication from Mr.
13 Jakes or anyone else at Finnegan withdrawing Finnegan from representing LMA against 14 Ambu. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 15; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶ 8.

15 E. After Being Selected By LMA, Finnegan For The First Time Notified LMA That It
16 Had Acquired A Conflict And Could No Longer Represent LMA

17 In response to the voice-mail message left by Mr. Marzen, Mr. Jakes called back and 18 left a voice-mail message informing Mr. Marzen that a conflict had arisen since they had met 19 in November and that Finnegan could not represent LMA. That voice-mail message was the 20 first time LMA learned that Finnegan had a conflict and would not be able to represent it in 21 the lawsuit against Ambu. Mr. Jakes provided no details on the nature of the conflict in his 22 message. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 16.

23 On January 24, 2007, Mr. Jakes and Mr. Marzen spoke by telephone. Mr. Jakes stated
24 that Finnegan had been retained by another client sometime after the November 22, 2006 25 meeting and now had a conflict that prevented Finnegan from representing LMA in this 26 litigation. Mr. Marzen offered to investigate the possibility of obtaining waivers, but Mr.
27 Jakes said that he was told the conflict was not waivable. Mr. Jakes again provided no details 28 about the nature of the intervening conflict. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 17.

1 On January 30, 2007, Mr. Marzen wrote a letter and sent it by e-mail to Mr. Jakes 2 with a copy to Ms. Ackerman, reminding Finnegan of its obligation to maintain the 3 confidences and secrets that were disclosed to Finnegan about LMA's anticipated litigation 4 against Ambu. Ex. D (S. Marzen Decl.) Mr. Marzen received no response from Mr. Jakes 5 with respect to this letter. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 18.

6 F. Finnegan Appears On The Other Side Of This Lawsuit

7 LMA ultimately retained new patent trial counsel. Plaintiffs' new counsel filed this 8 lawsuit in the Southern District of California on October 15, 2007, and filed and served the 9 First Amended Complaint soon thereafter. On or about October 28, 2007, Robert Burns, a 10 Finnegan partner, contacted Plaintiffs' counsel requesting a 30-day extension of time. This 11 was the first time LMA learned that Finnegan had switched sides, and was considering 12 representing Ambu in this lawsuit.

13 Plaintiffs agreed to the requested extension of time to respond, as is customary 14 practice in this Court. But Plaintiffs also immediately informed Finnegan of their serious 15 concerns with respect to the prior relationship between LMA and Finnegan and the 16 confidences and secrets that had been disclosed in the November 22, 2006 meeting. Plaintiffs 17 further notified Finnegan that under the circumstances, the California Rules of Professional 18 Conduct precluded Finnegan from switching sides in the same lawsuit. Ex. E (F. Berretta 19 Decl.)

20 In response, Finnegan suggested that it was free to represent Ambu in this lawsuit 21 because it had erected an "ethical wall" between its attorneys Jakes and Williamson and its 22 attorneys representing Ambu in this lawsuit. Ex. F (F. Berretta Decl.) On November 29, 23 2007, after several requests by Plaintiffs' counsel, Ex. G (F. Berretta Decl.), Finnegan 24 produced a copy of a memo dated January 5, 2007 and labeled "'Ethical Wall' involving the 25 representation of Ambu A/S adverse to Laryngeal Mask Company Ltd." Ex. H (F. Berretta 26 Decl.) The memo begins by stating that "Bryan Diner will be representing Ambu A/S
27 ("Ambu") adverse to Laryngeal Mask Company Ltd. in intellectual property analysis 28 involving U.S. Patent 7,156,100 directed to a laryngeal mask airway device (the 'Laryngeal Matter’).” Id. The memo goes on to note that “Mike Jakes and John Williamson were previously contacted, on November 22, 2006, to discuss possible legal representation of Laryngeal Mask Company Ltd. (the “Prospective Client”) in a matter adverse to Ambu,” but goes on, inexplicably, to assert that “Mike and John did not receive any confidential information from the Prospective Client.” Id. The memo further states that “[n]onetheless, out of an abundance of caution, . . . Mike Jakes and John Williamson shall not work on, or review files or documents for the Laryngeal Matter” and “[p]ersons who work for Ambu A/S on the Laryngeal Matter are not to share with or solicit from Mike Jakes or John Williamson information or opinions, either legal or factual, about the Laryngeal Matter, or vice versa.” Id.

Ignoring the request by its former client, LMA, that it withdraw from this case, on November 28 and 30, 2007, Finnegan appeared in this lawsuit for Ambu by submitting pro hac vice applications for several attorneys with this Court. Plaintiffs promptly filed this motion to disqualify.

III. ARGUMENT

A. California Law Governs Whether Finnegan Is Disqualified From Switching Sides And Representing Ambu In This Lawsuit

Attorneys appearing before this Court are “subject to California law as it pertains to professional conduct.” Lucent Tech. Inc. v. Gateway, Inc., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 35502, at *19 (S.D. Cal. May 15, 2007); In re Mortgage & Realty Trust, 195 B.R. 740, 749 (C.D. Cal. 1996); Cal. R. Prof. Conduct 1-100(D)(2).

This rule is also explicitly set forth in this Court’s Civil Local Rules applicable to Standards of Professional Conduct:

Every member of the bar of this court and any attorney permitted to practice in this court shall be familiar with and comply with the standards of professional conduct required of members of the State Bar of California, and decisions of any court applicable thereto, which are hereby adopted as standards of professional conduct of this court.

1 Southern District of California Civil Local Rule 83.4(b). Less stringent professional 2 standards from other jurisdictions cannot be imported into this state by non-California 3 attorneys seeking to practice here, even temporarily. E. Peck Decl., § 6.

4 Similarly, motions to disqualify counsel are also governed by the state laws of 5 California. Henriksen v. Great America Savings and Loan et al., 11 Cal. App. 4th 109, 113, 6 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d 184, 186 (1992); Hitachi, Ltd. v. Tatung Co., 419 F.Supp.2d 1158, 1160 7 (N.D. Cal. 2006). Subject to and consistent with these laws, the decision of whether to 8 disqualify counsel for a conflict of interest lies within the discretion of the trial court.
 9 Hitachi, 419 F.Supp.2d at 1160.

10 In making a decision to disqualify counsel, the “paramount concern must be to 11 preserve public trust in the scrupulous administration of justice and the integrity of the bar.”
 12 People ex rel. v. Speedee Oil Change Sys., Inc., 20 Cal.4th 1135, 1145, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 816, 13 823 (1999). Those paramount concerns mandate disqualification of Finnegan here.

14 B. California Ethical Rules Strictly Forbid Side-Switching And Mandate
 15 Disqualification Of The Entire Finnegan Firm

16 California Rule of Professional Conduct 3-310(E) governs conflicts of interest as they 17 relate to former clients and states:

18 A member shall not, without the informed consent of the client or former 19 client, accept employment adverse to the client or former client where, by 20 reason of the representation of the client or former client, the member has obtained confidential information material to the employment.

21 Cal. R. Prof. Conduct 3-310(E). The purpose of Rule 3-310(E) is to protect confidences 22 shared between the client and attorney, both during the active attorney-client relationship and 23 after the termination of the attorney’s representation. City and County of San Francisco v.

1 In the event an attorney ignores the unambiguous language of Rule 3-310(E) and 2 seeks to represent a party adverse to a former client without obtaining written consent, the 3 former client may disqualify the attorney. Moreover, in California “when a conflict of 4 interest requires an attorney’s disqualification from a matter, the disqualification normally 5 extends vicariously to the attorney’s entire law firm.” Lucent, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at *21

9 As explained below, LMA became a client of Finnegan for conflict of interest 10 purposes during the consultation between Finnegan lawyers Mr. Jakes and Mr. Williamson, 11 and LMA’s representatives Mr. Marzen and Ms. Ackerman. While the representation may 12 have ended, LMA is still a former client of Finnegan. As a result of that former attorney-13 client relationship, Rule 3-310 expressly prohibits Mr. Jakes and Mr. Williamson from now 14 representing any party adverse to LMA in this litigation, including Ambu. Moreover, the 15 laws of California make clear that this conflict of interest is imputed to the entire Finnegan 16 firm and cannot be eliminated by the erection of an ethical screen.

17 1. An Attorney-Client Relationship Between Finnegan And LMA Arose
 18 Under California Law By Virtue Of The November 2006 Meeting

19 Under California law the November 22, 2006 meeting between Finnegan attorneys 20 Mr. Jakes and Mr. Williamson and LMA’s representatives initiated an attorney-client 21 relationship. In California, Evidence Code Section 951 provides the formal definition of the 22 term “client” for purposes of Rule 3-310 and states in relevant part:

23 ‘client’ means a person who, directly or through an authorized representative, 24 consults a lawyer for the purpose of retaining the lawyer or securing legal service or advice from him in his professional capacity

25 People v. Canfield, 12 Cal.3d 699, 704-705, n. 5; 117 Cal. Rptr. 81, 84-85, n. 5 (1974); Sky
 26 Valley Ltd. P’ship, v. ATX Sky Valley, Ltd., 150 FRD 648, 651 (N.D. Cal. 1993). In the 27 context of an initial client meeting, “courts have given expansive (generous) constructions to 28 Evidence Code section 951” in order to “promote society’s interest in encouraging people to 1 seek legal advice and in protecting the process by which people determine whether they need 2 a lawyer and which lawyer would be best for them.” Id.

3 Accordingly, the California Supreme Court has repeatedly made clear that the 4 fiduciary attorney-client relationship “extends to preliminary consultations by a prospective 5 client with a view to retention of the lawyer, although actual employment does not result, 6 [and that] a formal retainer agreement is not required before attorneys acquire fiduciary 7 obligations of loyalty and confidentiality, which begin when attorney-client discussions 8 proceed beyond initial or peripheral contacts.” SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1147-1148, 86 Cal.
9 Rptr. 2d at 825 (quoting and citing Beery v. State Bar of California, 43 Cal.3d 802, 811-812, 10 239 Cal. Rptr. 121, 125 (1987) (internal citations omitted)); see also Kearns v. Fred Lavery 11 Porsche Audi Co, et al., 745 F.2d 600, 603 (Fed. Cir. 1984) (applying Rule DR 5-105(D) of 12 the ABA Code of Professional Responsibility in a similar context and affirming 13 disqualification of consulted attorney and his entire firm).

14 An attorney-client relationship was found in SpeedDee Oil based on facts similar to the 15 present case. In SpeedDee Oil an attorney (Cohon) representing defendant Mobil contacted an 16 “of counsel” attorney (Disner) at the Shapiro law firm with a view to possibly retaining 17 Disner on behalf of Mobil. The initial telephone conversation involved the substantive 18 allegations and procedural status of the case, and Mobil’s theories. SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 19 1140-1141, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 819-20. A few days later, Cohon and two other Mobil 20 attorneys met with Disner for one to two hours over lunch, and discussed the background of 21 the case, Mobil’s theories, discovery strategy, procedural and substantive issues that had 22 arisen, and other case-related matters. Id. The same day, Disner checked on certain statutes 23 and case law and got back to one of the Mobil attorneys. Id. Disner was never formally 24 retained, and no other exchanges of information between the Mobil attorneys and Disner took 25 place because the next day Mobil discovered that the Shapiro firm was representing the 26 plaintiffs. Id.

27 On these facts, the California Supreme Court easily decided that an attorney-client 28 relationship had arisen between Disner and Mobil as a matter of law. The Court referred to

1 the two-hour lunch meeting as an “extended briefing” and noted that the meeting was 2 between attorneys rather than an attorney and a client layperson. The Court concluded that 3 “[o]bviously, communications of that kind are likely to involve an efficient transfer of 4 material confidential information and attorney work product.” Id., 20 Cal.4th at 1149, 86 Cal.
 5 Rptr. 2d at 826 (ultimately disqualifying Disner and the entire Shapiro firm); see also Pound, 6 135 Cal. App. 4th at 73-74, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 924-25 (affirming finding of attorney-client 7 relationship based upon one-hour meeting between disqualified attorney and attorney 8 representative of client during which various case issues were discussed).

9 The present facts are virtually identical to those of SpeedDee Oil. Ms. Ackerman, an 10 attorney representing Plaintiffs, contacted Mr. Lipsey, a partner at Finnegan’s Reston, 11 Virginia offices, about retaining the firm to represent it in a patent infringement suit against 12 Ambu. Mr. Lipsey, in turn, recommended his fellow partner, Mr. Jakes, for the lawsuit. Ms.
 13 Ackerman then contacted Mr. Jakes by telephone to discuss his potential representation of 14 LMA in the case. W. Ackerman Decl., ¶¶ 4-5. Soon thereafter, Mr. Jakes, as well as an 15 associate, Mr. Williamson, met with Ms. Ackerman and Mr. Marzen for about two hours, 16 during which they shared substantial amounts of confidential information with Finnegan 17 concerning what would ultimately issue as the ‘100 Brain patent and discussed various 18 litigation strategies and options for this very lawsuit. During the meeting, the Finnegan 19 lawyers advised LMA regarding many of those issues. Further details about these matters are 20 available should the Court request in camera supplemental declarations. S. Marzen Decl., 21 ¶¶ 7-10; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶¶ 6-7.

22 In sum, there was “an efficient transfer of material confidential information and 23 attorney work product” from LMA’s attorney representatives to Finnegan, and soon thereafter 24 LMA sought to formalize the relationship and proceed with the case using Finnegan as its 25 patent trial counsel. S. Marzen Decl., ¶ 15. In these circumstances, there is no question that a 26 fiduciary attorney-client relationship between Finnegan and LMA arose under the standards
 27 of California law. SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1147-1148, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 825; Pound, 135 28 Cal. App. 4th at 73-74, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 924-25; E. Peck Decl., § 9.

1           2.     *Finnegan Indisputably Obtained Privileged And Confidential Information
2           From LMA About This Lawsuit, Requiring Its Disqualification

3           The primary concern of California courts when assessing a conflict of interest and 4           potential disqualification issue is “whether and to what extent the attorney acquired 5           confidential information.” SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1148, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 825; see also 6           Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 113-114, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 186. “If the former client 7           establishes the existence of a substantial relationship between the two representations the 8           court will conclusively presume that the attorney possesses confidential information adverse 9           to the former client and order disqualification.” Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 114, 14 Cal.
10          Rptr. 2d at 186 (emphasis added); accord SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1146, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 11          824. Accordingly, a former client may disqualify an attorney for a conflict of interest merely 12          by showing a “substantial relationship” between the subjects of the prior and current 13          representations. SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1146, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 824; Cobra Solutions, 38
14          Cal.4th at 847, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 776-77.

15          Here, there was clearly a substantial relationship between the former and present 16          litigation. In fact, Finnegan attempts to represent the Defendant, Ambu, in the very same 17          litigation regarding which it advised the Plaintiffs. As the California Supreme Court has 18          explained, “the most egregious conflict of interest is representation of clients whose interests 19          are directly adverse in the same litigation.” SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1147, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 20          at 824 (emphasis added); see also Pound, 135 Cal. App. 4th at 76, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 926 21          (attorney who “switched sides” in the same action commits the most egregious conflict of 22          interest). Finnegan’s attempt to represent Ambu in this case presents such an “egregious 23          conflict of interest” because that representation involves the same parties, the same patent, 24          and the same accused devices that were the subject of the consultation with Finnegan in 25          November 2006.

26          What is more, this case involves the transmittal by LMA’s attorney representatives to 27          Finnegan of substantial confidential information relevant to this lawsuit. In cases involving 28          preliminary consultations, some California courts have required the party seeking

1 disqualification to “show, directly or by reasonable inference, that the attorney acquired 2 confidential information in the conversation.” Med-Trans Corp., Inc. v. City of California
 3 City, 156 Cal.App.4th 655, 667, 68 Cal. Rptr. 3d 17 (2007).<sup>3</sup> As discussed above, LMA has 4 demonstrated both directly and by reasonable inference that substantial confidential 5 information was disclosed during the two-hour November 2006 meeting between 6 sophisticated attorneys for each party. S. Marzen Decl., ¶¶ 7-10; W. Ackerman Decl., ¶¶ 6-7.
 7 Any inference to the contrary would be implausible and unreasonable. SpeeDee Oil, 20 8 Cal.4th at 1149, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 826. E. Peck Decl., § 9.

9 Accordingly, Finnegan’s attempted representation of Ambu constitutes a violation of 10 both the duty of loyalty and the duty of confidentiality under California’s rules of 11 professional conduct. Those violations automatically disqualify Finnegan from representing 12 Ambu in this case. Cobra Solutions, 38 Cal.4th at 847-848, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 776-77;
 13 SpeeDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1146, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 824, Pound, 135 Cal. App. 4th at 78, 36 14 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 928. E. Peck Decl., § 8, 11.

15 C. California Law Mandates The Vicarious Disqualification Of The Entire Finnegan
 16 Firm Based On Its Attempt To Switch Sides In The Same Lawsuit

17 California courts have long and consistently applied an absolute rule of vicarious 18 disqualification that automatically imputes the ethical conflicts of its lawyers to the law firm.
 19 “As a general rule in California, where an attorney is disqualified from representation, the 20 entire law firm is vicariously disqualified as well.” Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 113-114, 21 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 187. The established rule in California is that once an attorney is

 23 <sup>3</sup> In Med-Trans the plaintiff’s attorney was not disqualified as a result of a prior 24 meeting with an employee of the defendant because (1) the attorney merely sought out the 25 employee for information on another case rather than being sought out by the defendant for 26 representation, (2) the party seeking disqualification failed to establish directly or by 27 reasonable inference that confidential information was actually imparted to the attorney, (3) 28 the initial discussion never went beyond the preliminary stages, and (4) no actual representation occurred for conflict of interest purposes. Med-Trans, 156 Cal.App.4th at 666-69. Here, LMA did seek out and ultimately retain Finnegan, LMA actually imparted confidential information to Finnegan, LMA’s initial consultation went well beyond preliminary stages, and Finnegan rendered legal advice concerning the proposed litigation constituting representation for conflict of interest purposes.

1 disqualified, “that attorney’s entire firm must be disqualified as well, regardless of efforts to 2 erect an ethical wall.” Hitachi, 419 F.Supp.2d at 1161 (emphasis added); see also Cobra
 3 Solutions, 38 Cal.4th at 847-848, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 777 (“Normally, an attorney’s conflict is 4 imputed to the law firm as a whole on the rationale ‘that attorneys, working together and 5 practicing law in a professional association, share each other’s, and their clients’, confidential
 6 information.’” (citations omitted)); Speedee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1146, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 824 7 (“a presumption that an attorney has access to privileged and confidential matters relevant to 8 a subsequent representation extends the attorney’s disqualification vicariously to the 9 attorney’s entire firm”); Pound, 135 Cal. App. 4th at 78, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 928 (same).

10 Moreover, there is no indication from the California courts that this absolute rule is in 11 any way eroding or softening. If anything, it is becoming even stricter as new fact scenarios 12 present themselves to the courts. See, e.g., Speedee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1156, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d 13 at 831 (disqualification of firm’s “of counsel” attorney having a largely isolated practice 14 nevertheless results in vicarious disqualification of the entire firm); Pound, 135 Cal. App. 4th 15 at 80-81, 36 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 929-30 (disqualification of first attorney results in vicarious 16 disqualification of independent second attorney associated with first attorney despite evidence 17 that they did not share confidential information); Cobra Solutions, 38 Cal.4th at 853-854, 43 18 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 781-83 (disqualification of San Francisco City Attorney results in 19 disqualification of entire City Attorney’s office despite screening efforts).

20 Accordingly, under California’s strict ethical standards, the fact that Mr. Jakes and 21 Mr. Williamson are conflicted from representing LMA’s adversary, Ambu, in this lawsuit – a 22 fact that even Finnegan does not appear to deny – requires vicarious disqualification of the 23 entire Finnegan firm. Side-switching in the same lawsuit – the “most egregious” conflict of 24 interest under California law – is simply not permitted by law firms seeking to appear before 25 courts in this state. E. Peck Decl., § 10-11.

26 ///

27 ///

28 ///

D. California Law Does Not Permit The Use Of Screening Procedures To Circumvent Vicarious Disqualification

Any attempt by Finnegan to cure the conflict of interest through the erection of an “ethical screen” is wholly unavailing. “California courts generally have not allowed a law firm to avoid vicarious disqualification by implementing a screening procedure.” Lucent, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at * 22; Hitachi, 419 F.Supp.2d at 1161. “In particular, the ‘screening concept is not applicable when the attorney in question performed work for the opposing party in the same lawsuit.’” Lucent, 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS at * 22 (quoting Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 117, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 188); see also Cho v. Superior Court, 39 Cal. App. 4th 113, 125, 45 Cal. Rptr. 2d 863, 870 (1995) (“No amount of assurances or screening procedures, no ‘cone of silence,’ could ever convince the opposing party that the confidences would not be used to its disadvantage.”).

Significantly, “no California case . . . has yet expressly altered the established rule” vicariously disqualifying an attorney’s entire firm from representing a client when the attorney has previously represented a party with adverse interests in a substantially related matter. Hitachi, 419 F.Supp.2d at 1161. In fact, aside from rare exceptions inapplicable here, “no California case appears to have permitted disqualification of the individual attorney for a conflict without disqualifying his law firm.” Id. (quoting Klein v. Superior Court, 198 Cal. App. 3d 894, 912-13, 244 Cal. Rptr. 226, 237 (1988)).

In this regard, the concurring opinion of Justice Mosk in SpeedDee Oil is noteworthy for its treatment of the ethical screen issue in the context of private attorneys at the same firm:

Regardless whether any attorneys in the Shapiro firm apart from Disner were actually exposed to Mobil’s confidences or instituted any formal “ethical screen” to preserve confidentiality, disqualification in these circumstances was automatic, as a breach of the twin duties of loyalty and confidentiality owed by an attorney to his client.

SpeedDee Oil, 20 Cal.4th at 1157, 86 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 832 (emphasis added); see also Cobra Solutions, 38 Cal.4th at 853-854, 43 Cal. Rptr. 3d at 781-83 (use of ethical screen did not avoid disqualification of City Attorney’s entire office); Hitachi, 419 F.Supp.2d at 1164-65 (use of ethical screen did not avoid disqualification of entire firm). As one court explained,

1 “we believe the rule to be quite clear cut in California: where an attorney is disqualified 2 because he formerly represented and therefore possesses confidential information regarding 3 the adverse party in the current litigation, vicarious disqualification of the entire firm is 4 compelled as a matter of law.” Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 117, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 188 5 (emphasis added).<sup>4</sup>

6 Likewise, the result here should be “clear cut.” Finnegan lawyers Mr. Jakes and Mr.
 7 Williamson are without question disqualified from representing Ambu in this case because 8 they formerly represented and undeniably possesses confidential information regarding LMA 9 in the current lawsuit. Vicarious disqualification of the entire Finnegan firm is therefore 10 compelled as a matter of law. Under no plausible construction of California law can such an 11 egregious conflict of interest be overcome with an ethical screen. E. Peck Decl., § 12-13.

 22 <sup>4</sup> Even if California did permit the use of ethical screens (which it does not), the 23 screen in this case would have been wholly inadequate, given that the “screen” was not 24 erected until January 5, 2007 at the earliest. Ex. H (F. Berretta Decl.) Thus, Mr. Jakes and 25 Mr. Williamson were free to discuss the LMA case with anyone else in the firm from 26 November 22, 2006 through January 5, 2007-over six weeks. Under California law ethical 27 screens are not permitted even when erected before the chance for any discussions between 28 the disqualified attorney and the rest of the firm. See, e.g., Henriksen, 11 Cal. App. 4th at 115, 14 Cal. Rptr. 2d at 187-88 (disqualified attorney was screened off “since the moment he arrived” at his new firm, but still tainted the entire firm). An ethical screen erected six weeks after the meeting between LMA’s representatives and Mr. Jakes and Mr. Williamson cannot possibly ensure that either or both of the two Finnegan lawyers did not share LMA’s confidences with other members of the Finnegan firm. In other words, Finnegan’s screen was too little, too late.

IV. CONCLUSION

Plaintiffs respectfully request this Court to grant this Motion to Disqualify the entire Finnegan law firm, and enter an order forbidding Finnegan from representing Ambu in this litigation or in any way directly or indirectly assisting Ambu in the defense of this lawsuit, including forbidding Finnegan from consulting with Ambu's new counsel or sharing any of its work product with Ambu's new counsel.
